

Family Name: SIMON

(Religious) Name: László

Contact: l.simon@anselmianum.com

1) CV

1963 – born in Győr (Hungary)
1982 – joined the monastery of Pannonhalma
1982-1984 – compulsory military service
1989 – ordained to the priesthood
1988-1990, 1992-1995 – studies at the Eötvös Loránd Tudományegyetem (State University, Budapest) majoring in Hungarian and English language and literature
1990-1992: studies in Rome with a scholarship
1992 – licentiate in biblical theology at the Gregorian University
1994/95 autumn term: MA in English language and literature
1994/95 spring term: MA in Hungarian language and literature
1994-1998: teaching in one of the secondary schools run by the Hungarian Benedictine Congregation
1995-1998: courses on the Psalms in the school of theology at Pannonhalma
1998-2000: studies in Rome with a scholarship
2000 STD (the Gregorian University), dissertation: Identity and Identification: An Exegetical and Theological Study of 2 Sam 21-24.
2001 – Pontificio Ateneo Sant’Anselmo; lecturing mainly on the New Testament and on the history of modern exegesis.
2003 – associate professor of Sacred Scripture (Pontificio Ateneo Sant’Anselmo)
2004 – member of the Colloquium Oecumenicum Paulinum.
2008 – professor of Sacred Scripture (Pontificio Ateneo Sant’Anselmo – following the Roman terminology: 2008 -: “professore straordinario”, 2012-: “professore ordinario”)
2009 – editor of the series Studia Anselmiana
2018 – procurator general of the Hungarian Benedictine Congregation

2) Courses and seminars at the Pontificio Ateneo Sant’Anselmo

The Johannine Writings
Narrative Analysis of the Fourth Gospel
Signs and Sacraments in John’s Gospel
The Apostolic Letters
The Synoptic Gospels
History of Exegesis III: Renaissance, Humanism, Reformation and Counter-Reformation
History of Exegesis IV: From the Appearance of the Historical-critical Method until Today
The Book of the Psalms: Spiritual Challenge and Theological Program
The Interpretation of the Old Testament in the Gospels
The New Testament Canon
The Law in the New Testament
The Resurrection in the Narrative Tradition of the New Testament
New Testament Greek (I-II)
Cultic Metaphors in the Letter to the Romans

3) Graduate courses taught elsewhere

a) at Saint John's University, School of Theology - Seminary (Collegeville, MN)

July 5-23, 2010: 36 lectures on the so-called Historical Books
June 27-July 15, 2011: 36 lectures on the Psalms
July 9-27, 2012: 36 lectures on the Eucharist in the Gospel of John June 17-July 5, 2013: 36 lectures on 1-2 Samuel
July 8-July 26, 2013: 36 lectures on the Resurrection in the Gospels
June 16-July 3, 2014: 36 lectures on the Psalms
July 7-25, 2014: 36 lectures on "Catholic Letters, Epistle to the Hebrews and Revelation"
June 15-July 2, 2015: 36 lectures on the spirituality of the New Testament
July 13-17, 2015: 15 lectures on "Who is the Old Testament God?"
June 27- July 1, 2016: 15 lectures on "Scripture Quoting Scripture"
July 5-22, 2016: 36 lectures on "Prayer in the Bible"
June 5-9, 2017: 15 lectures on the Book of Ruth
June 12-30, 2017: 36 lectures on "Prayer in the Bible" 24 May-16 July 2021: 36 lectures on 1 and 2 Samuel
16 Jan-5 May 2023: 36 lectures on the Pentateuch
23 May-15 July 2023: 36 lectures on the Psalms
21 Jan-5 March 2025: 12 lectures on "Praying the Scriptures with Benedict – How Can Contemporary Exegesis Contribute to a Prayerful and Life Shaping Reading of the Bible?"
19 May-10 July 2025: 36 lectures on "Who Is the Old Testament God?"

b) at Saint Vincent Seminary (Saint Vincent Archabbey, Latrobe, PA)

Wisdom Books and Psalms – from Fall semester 2017 on